HITLER '100 P.C. FOR PEACE'

By WALTER DIETZEL

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 21—In a move without precedent in the recent troubled history of Europe, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler let it be known today that he looks for a peaceful solution of the Danzig problem, with Great Britain compelling Poland to back down and hand the Free City over to the Reich.

Through an official spokesman, the Fuehrer announced that Germany's political barometer is "100 per cent against war," and his own personal viewpoint was set forth in these words:

"All indications point to peace."

WITHOUT A SHOT

The spokesman left no doubt as to Hitler's unrelenting determination to extend his domain into the Free City at the mouth of the Vistula river, but he insisted that as time passes both Britain and Poland would be to abandon by force of circumstances to abandon their present resolute attitude and hand over Danzig "without a shot being fired." He added:

"Germany has not the least desire for a conflict of arms to bring about the uncompromising solution which we confidently expect. We reject 100 per cent a warlike solution and would regret extremely if that were the only way."

Germany is not prepared to negotiate with Poland on the Danzig issue, the spokesman said. The Reich stands firm on Hitler's declaration before the Reichstag on April 28 that:

"Danzig is German and must return to Germany."
"A peaceful solution is still considered possible," the spokesman

STOCKS JUMP

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—Under the influence of cheering news at home and from abroad, stocks jumped $1 to $3 a share in Wall Street today.

Contributing to the upsurge, brokers said, were the statement of a German spokesman that Germany wished to avoid war and the decision of Congress to investigate the National Labor Relations Board. Also there were earnings reports from corporations.

said, "but this can be achieved only if Poland backs down from its present stand."

COUNTS ON ENGLAND

It is assumed in Nazi Germany, the spokesman said, that England again will turn the scales in favor of the Reich before any showdown occurs, exerting a modifying influence upon Poland.

"This assumption," he said, "strengthens confidence that Germany will obtain Danzig without firing a shot, just as it got the Sudetenland, Bohemia and Moravia."

The spokesman emphasized that Germany itself will make no immediate move calculated to endanger peace. The Reich remains consecrated to the slogan adopted for this year's Nazi party congress at Nuremberg which opens on September 2. The slogan is:

"The Nazi party gathering of peace."

CITES BRITAIN'S FLIGHT

The spokesman's statement was significant because it was the first full resume of the situation from the official German point of view since Great Britain launched its alleged policy of "encirclement" by extending armed guarantees to Poland.

The German press, he said, thus far has declined to capitalize on what he termed "unfair treatment" of the German minority in the Polish Corridor, and this was cited as a desire on the part of

BRITAIN SEES NAZI PEACE BID

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—Facile utterances in Berlin over the free city of Danzig were interpreted today in Britain as a new invitation to the British government to return to the policy of appeasement. "Nobody ever doubted that Hitler would prefer to get Danzig without war," one British official said, "but as long as Germany insists that Danzig must return to the Reich then the situation is not too hopeful."

In Rome, Fascists said they concurred wholeheartedly in the German spokesman's statement. In Paris, officials were guarded in their comment but said they were inclined to regard the statement as a "possible change" in the situation.

The Berlin development came as talk which was without confirmation spread concerning overtures toward European "peace" discussions.

On report was that Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Germany, might "very shortly" establish contact with Adolf Hitler "to find out just what his terms are for world peace."

The general feeling in Whitehall was that the Berlin statement was Germany's answer to Prime Minister Chamberlain's remark of July 10 that the Danzig situation was "capable of improvement."

Though the official view here is that Danzig's present status is not perfect, officials insist that it is "neither unjust or illogical" and they support the Polish contention that Germany must not be allowed to "stagnate" Poland by controlling Polish access to the sea.

MARTEL'S SON DIES IN CRASH

Two persons were killed and five injured today in a series of early morning auto crashes.

Arthur J. Martel, Jr., 28, of Holmes st., Cambridge, son of the Boston radio and night club pianist, was instantly killed when his auto overturned twice in Point St. Margaret.

Mrs. Estelle T. Morin, Athol telephone operator, lost her life in a head-on collision in Oxford.

Henry Rich, 26, of Allston st., Dorchester, riding with Martel, was rushed to Jordan Hospital, suffering severe head injuries and his name was placed on the danger list.

Home W. Morin, 35, of Crescent street, Athol, the dead woman's husband, was near death with fractures of the skull, pelvis and leg. Bernard A. Christian, operator of the other machine, was less badly hurt.

In Somerville, Miss Edna Martin, 31, of Park street, Somerville; Thomas Chatfield, 38, of Lopez street, and William J. Sullivan, 22, of Raymond street, both Cambridge, suffered severe head injuries when their auto crashed into the rear of a parked truck.

Pinned in the wreckage, they were extricated under floodlights and rushed to Somerville Hospital.

Hope Fades for Boy Lost on Maine Peak

MILLINOCKET, Me., July 21 (AP)—Hope was virtually abandoned today for Donn Fendler, 12-year-old Rye, N. Y., boy lost on Mt. Katahdin's mile-high, rock strewn wilderness four days ago.

Straying from a trail while on a climbing trip Monday with his father, Donald Fendler, and others, the boy was without food and thinly clad.

Harry Tingley, district forestry supervisor, seemingly expressed the viewpoint of expert woodsmen today when he said:

"If it were my boy, I would have bidden him a sorrowful goodbye by this time."

The elder Fendler, after his first night's sleep since the boy vanished, joined national guardmen, timber crusaders, guides and scores of other searchers during the day but his attitude indicated to observers that he, too, had about given up hope of seeing his son alive again.

AUDREY "GIDDY" GRAY
Hit-Run Deb's Romance Bared

Hit-Run Crash Reveals Society Girl's Romance

The tragedy which sent two little boys to a Putnam, Ct., hospital, fighting for their lives, has bared the secret romance of Audrey Gray, New York debutante and niece of the dowager Duchess of Marlborough, with a Montreal bank clerk, the Boston Evening American learned today.

Miss Gray, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gray of Locust Valley, N. Y., arrested in Southbridge after apparently running away from the scene of the accident in Connecticut was, it was learned, headed for Montreal and a rendezvous with Theodore Pratt, the bank employee.

Instead of keeping the rendezvous, she must now return to Putnam to face serious charges resulting from the accident and on which she was held in bonds totaling $1500.

Mrs. Gray, the former Edith Deacon of Boston, who is a sister of the Princess Radziwell as well as of the British duchess, flew to Putnam in an airplane as soon as she learned of her daughter's arrest.

"This is terrible!" she moaned, while waiting to see the girl, locked in a cell.

Gray arrived by train later, and posted $1500 in cash for bail on charges of reckless driving, and evading responsibility for an accident.

Hearing was set for August 1.

The romance was revealed by friends in New York, who reported that early this year Audrey inherited a small fortune—a fraction of what one day will be hers—and her first purchase was an automobile, in which she has frequently driven to Montreal to visit the young man who, one day, may be her husband.

BATTLE FOR LIVES

When arrested in Southbridge by Deputy Sheriff Wilfred M. Dumas on an alarm telephoned from Putnam, she said she was on her way to Montreal, and that she did not know the boys had been injured when their bicycle swerved into her car.

The car, however, showed a

Cowboys in Fishnets For Cape's Art Ball

PROVINCETOWN, July 21—Whoever heard of a fishnet cowboy costume? Or, for that matter, of a sou-wester sombrero; or a 50-pound test larriat . . . As far as that goes, whoever heard of a dude ranch on the Grank Bands?

And what's Sally Rand got to do with Plymouth Rock and the founding Pilgrims?

The answer seems obvious; but, with that perversity which may—or may not—be a sign of genius the artistic boys and girls of this colony of Bohemians have chosen Sally Rand's Nude Ranch, a feature of the San Francisco exposition, as the theme for the annual Artists' Ball, to be held in town hall tonight.

It's taken years and years, but the townsfolk have become more or less reconciled to the cavorting of the invading hordes, who each year move in for the summer months and spend long hours sitting in front of easels down by the seashore.

Consequently, the announcement that the ball is to be a representation of the Sally Rand exhibit has caused no more than a yawning interest.

If the boys and girls, most of them from Boston, New York and points South and West, want to risk taking cold by running around nights without much clothes on, well, it's their own risk.

Two state troopers have, however, been detailed to the ball as unofficial censors of costumes. They'll have the first peek, and any costume that seems too, too altogether will be barred, it's wester with it.

Sponsors of the show, the Provincetown Beachcombers' Association, headed by Arthur Snader, assert that troopers or no troopers the show must go on, and costumes will be less and less. One of the merry-makers will be Caroline Grover of New York.

'MUMMY'S AWAY' SOBS BABY GIRL INJURED BY AUTO

Wide-eyed with suffering a beautiful blonde baby girl, about four years old, is in Cambridge Memorial Hospital, victim of an automobile accident, and unlabeled . . . She keeps murmuring, "Mummy's away!" and again, "Mummy's away!"

It happened as she crossed Massachusetts avenue in Cambridge. Skipping along, unmindful of peril, she jumped in front of a car driven by Stanley K. Justheim, of Walworth street, Roslindale.

Brakes shrieked as he tried to stop, but, too late, she crumpled and fell.

He took her into the car and sped for the hospital. On the way she cried out the words above, and kept on after doctors had started to examine her to determine her hurts.

She is, they said, seriously injured.

She had a clean, white bandage on her knee, and she wore a navy blue coat, blue dress with white collar, blue socks and black shoes.

Nudist School Opens Sept. 1; Bans Clothes

MAYS LANDIN, N. J., July 21 (INS)—Preparations were under way today for the first American coeducational boarding school in which an absence of clothing will be a prerequisite for learning, reading and arithmetic.

It's the forthcoming school of the American Sunbathing Association—otherwise known as "nudists"—and according to present plans will be opened September 1 for boys and girls from three to 12 years of age.

In keeping with nudists tenets, none of the pupils will wear clothes while they study in a two-story building now being constructed for class-rooms and dormitories. Already 15 children from Wyoming, New York, Connecticut, New Jersey and California have enrolled, according to Rev. Halsey Boone, president of sunshine camp. The school will be on the camp's 2,000-acre estate near here.

4 BOSTON POLICE LINKED TO CRIME WAVE

Ex-Cop Confesses Officers Split Loot

In an amazing "confession" allegedly made today at Charles street jail, a former Boston police officer admitted participation in a series of burglaries and at least one robbery, and named four present officers of the Boston police department as involved in the crimes.

The former patrolman, Paul A. Petzold, 44, now of Reading, was arraigned in Dorchester court on a charge of possessing burglar's tools and was held in $1000 for the grand jury. He waived examination and was taken to jail for lack of bail.

Arrested secretly last Monday, he had been questioned repeatedly since that time.

IMPLICATES THREE

Today he allegedly "broke down" and made a full confession, implicating one patrolman now attached to the East Boston station and three attached to the Roxbury Crossing station.

According to the story attributed to Petzold, the officers he accused knew in advance of crimes committed on their beats and gave their consent, in anticipation of receiving part of the loot.

Among the successful burglaries allegedly admitted by Petzold was one in which $2100 was taken from a safe at the Back Bay store of the S. S. Pierce Co.

At the time of that crime, in March, 1938, Petzold was employed as a watchman in the S. S. Pierce building. He was found bound and gagged.

BLAMED N. Y. GANG

He said then he had been overpowered at gun-point and had later been dragged and knocked unconscious by four safe-crackers. A gang of professional yeggs from New York was officially blamed for the break.

Petzold at the time apparently escaped suspicion, although it subsequently developed that police headquarters detectives were not satisfied with his story.

His arrest this week came after police had been tipped that a warehouse robbery in Dorchester was being planned.

A girl informant allegedly said Petzold had shown her a key and

BULLETIN

Police Commissioners Joseph F. Timilty today assigned Deputy Superintendents John M. Anderson, James R. Claffin and Benjamin A. Wall to investigate the alleged police crime ring described in the Paul A. Petzold confession.

He boasted it would open the warehouse.

HAD STOLEN KEY

It was for his reported possession of this key that Petzold was held today on the "burglar's tools" charge.

His alleged confession was said to have been made in Charles street jail to Detectives Thomas Conroy and William Philbrick of the police headquarters bureau of criminal investigation.

They were assigned to the case by Lieutenant James V. Crowley.

He and the detectives had kept Petzold under surveillance for some time, it was revealed.

In several instances, he said in the "confession," officers on the beats where the "jobs were pulled" were taken into the confidence of the burglars and "gave their okay," taking only a division of the spoils.

At police headquarters today, it was said the three patrolmen named by Petzold had not yet been questioned and were still on duty.

Petzold resigned under fire from the Boston police force in 1936, after he had been accused of a "love hunt" to Virginia with a young City Hospital nurse.

ACCUSED BY HUSBAND

Her husband charged Petzold with being "the other man" in a family triangle.

The police officer, at that time, was himself married and the father of two children. His present home is in Van Haven street, Reading. Among the half dozen or more serious crimes Petzold allegedly admitted in his "confession" of today were an attempted safe break in East Boston and several burglaries in Roxbury.

Acting Superintendent of Police John M. Anderson refused today to discuss the charges made by Petzold against the four members of the department.

Anderson referred questioners to Deputy Superintendent James R. Claffin, head of the bureau of criminal investigation.

"No comment," Claffin said.

It was understood at police headquarters, however, that the four accused patrolmen were still on duty and had not yet been interrogated.

ELDON, WILLIAM SPURGEON, ROBERT, AND MRS. SPURGEON, HOLDING BILL, JR., On to Idaho—Western Family Aided by Police

Westward Ho for Family Of Five on a Gallon o' Gas

Spurning offers of assistance from welfare workers and charitable citizens, a 26th Century pioneer family of five from Kansas rolled out of Dedham today, penniless but determined to reach Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Spurgeon and their three children, Robert, five; Eldon, three, and William D., Jr., barely a year old, spent the night at the Dedham police station, where they had their first food in 12 hours.

With scarcely a gallon of gas in their ancient car, they set off in high spirits, although their remaining valuables were exchanged yesterday for gasoline together with their last 25 cents.

Spurgeon told Dedham police he had packed his family into the old car and home-made trailer when their last hopes of making a living in their home town of Clay Center, Kan., failed.

They drove to Portland, Me., hoping to get assistance and possible employment through a woman relative, Spurgeon explained. Finding her in circumstances almost as hopeless as their own, they left Portland yesterday.

What few furnishings they owned that were negotiable were bartered for food and gasoline, and the children had been last fed at 3 p. m. yesterday, Spurgeon said.

They drove through the night with little plan, finally halting in Dedham as their gasoline supply ran, faded.

Sgt. Thomas Brady provided them with a piping hot meal, including warm milk for the baby, sleeping in Mrs. Spurgeon's arms, and they were then given makeshift beds in Dedham police station.

MARRIAGE 'SWAP' BEGAN ON PHONE

LONDON, July 21—It all started with a telephone call, William Dwight Whitney revealed today as he embarked on a honeymoon trip to Paris with bride, actress Adrienne Allen, the former Mrs. Raymond Massey.

Their marriage in the rose covered registry office of Storrington, Sussex, completed a dramatic wife exchange by Whitney and Massey, star of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

Whitney, prominent New York lawyer, said he heard Miss Allen had arrived in the United States to start divorce proceedings against Massey.

Knowing the British actress had only a few friends in New York, Whitney phoned her New York hotel and offered to assist her. A meeting followed, then friendship. Soon they realized it was love.

"That was the best telephone call I've ever made," Whitney declared with a smile.

Whitney and his first wife, Dorothy Ludington Whitney—the present Mrs. Massey—were married in 1923. They have two children, who are now with their mother and Massey, enroute to Hollywood where the actor will do a film version of the Lincoln play.

The Whitneys were divorced in July, 1937, the Masseys July 6 of this year. Four days later, Massey married Mrs. Whitney and now Whitney's marriage to Mrs. Massey completes the exchange.

BLOEMFONTEIN, Union of South Africa, July 21 (AP)—The first successful color pictures of Mars, taken with special equipment by Earl C. Sipher, American astronomer, indicate plant life exists on the planet.

Sipher, brother of Dr. Vesto Sipher, director of the Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., is next Thursday the planet, which next Thursday will be the closest to the earth it has been in 33 years—38,000,000 miles away.

The scientist's photographs, taken Wednesday night, disclosed that a huge dark spot or Great Eye of Mars seemed to have assumed a shape not observed for 50 years, if ever before.

Sipher suggested the change was caused by fresh vegetation over an area roughly the size of the United States. The "Great Eye" is near Mars' southern ice cap, which is breaking up now with the arrival of Martian spring.

Arabs Say U. S. Captive Safe

JERUSALEM, July 21 (AP)—A donkey boy brought to Jerusalem today a note from the Rev. Gerould R. Goldner of Mogadore, O., assuring his father of his safety, but urging that the $5000 ransom demand be paid today, if possible.

Jacob Goldner

In a previous note the leader of the band which kidnapped the Ohio pastor Wednesday declared that if the ransom were not paid the captors could not be responsible for Goldner's safety.

Meanwhile, Dr. Jacob Goldner, the father of the 29-year-old kidnap victim, prayed for the release of his son, and United States Consul General George Wadsworth continued efforts to free the younger Goldner.

Arab intermediaries also took a hand in the negotiations. They were understood to have countered the kidnapers' original demand for $5000 with an offer of 1000.

Tobin Asks U. S. Aid in Relief

Faced with the problem of figuring a way for Boston to care for 12,700 Bostonians to be dropped from WPA rolls, Mayor Tobin today went to the national Mayors' Conference in New York city to work for a change in the federal relief act.

City executives from all parts of the country are meeting with Mayor LaGuardia in New York to organize a campaign for amending the new law which has suddenly increased local welfare burdens and caused strikes as well as tie-ups on WPA projects.

Because 27,000 WPA workers in the state will be laid off by the end of August, and under the new act cities must assume 25 per cent of the cost of all WPA projects, the Massachusetts Mayors' Club has appealed to the state legislature to shoulder the burden. But the legislature is having trouble now trying to raise revenue for the present state budget.

PAWN BABY STILL WAITS MOTHER

Alone and unwanted, a tiny 14-month-old baby boy lay today at the Chardon Street Home.

Since last June he has not seen his mother; he has been shunted from Boston to Brooklyn, and back to Boston, and now for more than 48 hours Boston police have been searching for his mother.

According to the story on which

Sergeants Mark Madden and Frank Donovan of the Warren avenue station have been working, the child's mother left the baby with a friend last June.

Then the friend, tired of waiting, took the child to Brooklyn and turned it over to another friend of the mother. This third person gave the baby to the Travelers' Aid Society, which called in the police.

Today, quiet and uncomplaining, the child lies in his bed in the charitable institution.

Somewhere, perhaps in Boston, is the mother who has not seen him for more than four weeks, and for whom without crying, he waits.

with "squandering" state funds, was a victim of "slander, innuendo and malice" in a two and one-half hour plea to the chief executive to "consult your conscience" to determine whether sufficient evidence for removal was presented.

CHARGES UNFAIRNESS

Charles R. Hugg, prosecutor for the commission, which rested its case Wednesday after evidence had been taken on two of the 34 charges, was in charge of arguments in support of the ouster charges.

Halting of the evidence after hearing on only two charges was labeled "unfair" by Murphy and he questioned the commission's sincerity in failing to report Callahan had raised the state huge sums by departmental regulation changes.

Callahan, he declared, was a "good horse trader" in obtaining hurricane repair contracts at the best possible prices, pointing out that many contractors refused the work at established rates.

DISPUTES PROFITS

"The Republican legislature, in special session last fall, not only ratified what he did, but approved his plans and increased his appropriation for the work," Murphy contended.

He assailed the testimony of Patrick J. Holland, Lawrence contractor, that he made $20,000 profit on a $60,000 hurricane contract, declaring an audit of his books showed a profit of only $30,000.

He likewise protested against the procedure which prevented the executive council to sit in on the hearing.

Patrolman Joseph Kelly told of the chase and of how he had found him cowering in a backyard on Green street, Cambridge.

And beside he had found the door handle from an automobile that he had used to threaten the girl.

The boy, Henry Gallagher, 20, of 260 Broadway, Arlington, was so ashamed he was afraid to look up.

"I advise you to plead guilty," said Judge Arthur P. Stone, sternly.

"I do," mumbled the boy, miserably—anything, anything to get it over with.

"I sentence you to a year in the reformatory," began the judge, "but I suspend the sentence."

Incubator Fails To Save Mite

Despite efforts of physicians using the Quincy City Hospital incubator, after a 35-mile race from Plymouth, a 15-ounce baby girl died today.

The infant, sixth child to be born to Mrs. Frances Andrews, 29, of Plymouth, was rushed to Quincy early yesterday by Dr. Victor V. Ragonetti when he learned the Plymouth Hospital incubator was in use.

Boy Tosses Away $20 Bill and Cops Get a Headache

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., July 21 (AP)—Where, what a time police here are having trying to get rid of a $20 bill.

It started when an unidentified four-year-old boy handed Grover Jacob Roth a crumpled bill, and demanded "ice cream." Roth, startled by the denomination, got nowhere rapidly questioning the child, who, angered by it all, tossed the "paper" away.

By the time police entered the race, the youngster had disappeared. The officers are mystified.

ARMS VOTE KILLED OFF BOOM--F. D.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 21 (NS)—President Roosevelt today asserted that the Senate's action in failing to act on neutrality had killed off a fine little business boom.

A big business man, calling at the White House immediately after the Senate's decision to ignore administration appeals, advised the President everyone now was afraid to make commitments, not knowing what kind of a neutrality bill would come out of Congress in January.

The Senate, declared Mr. Roosevelt, was gambling with the possibility there would be no European war between now and January—although reports from every capital on the continent indicate the nations there were preparing for an eventuality they believe fairly close.

The Executive emphasized the point he and Secretary of State Hull had said there was a "possibility" of conflict, not "probability." The neutrality question is closed until January by action of the Senate, said Mr. Roosevelt in denying he intended to carry the issue to the country.

In fact, he has changed his plans for a western swing and probably will remain in the East for some time, visiting the San Francisco fair later.

MYSTERY MAN FACES BRIDGES

ANGEL ISLAND, Cal., July 21 (INS).—Elated with the punishing blows administered by his last two witnesses, Chief Deputy U. S. Commissioner Thomas B. Shoemaker today called to the stand another unidentified laborer as he prepared to deliver the final "kaya punch" at the Harry Bridges deportation hearing.

Shoemaker whisked his new witness to Angel Island by special speedboat and announced:

"I won't reveal his identity until he takes the stand. I'm not tipping my hand to the defense."

This was Shoemaker's fourth trip into labor circles in his fight to deport Bridges, West Coast CIO director, back to his native Australia as an "undesirable alien."

MAY CALL BROWDER

As speculation rages over the identity of the new witness, defense attorneys said they wouldn't be surprised to see Harry Lundberg, leader of the West Coast labor forces on the San Francisco waterfront and Bridges' most bitter enemy, called to the stand.

Meanwhile, U. S. Attorney General James M. Landis, dean of the Harvard Law School, especially assigned to this case by Secretary of Labor Francis Perkins, may call Earl Browder, top man of the Communist party, to the stand.

Landis, it was said, was anxious to check up on certain Browder statements about Bridges which were disclosed by Saprio. In fact, Saprio suggested that Browder be called to Angel Island to verify his testimony.

"I do not care to state publicly, at this time, that I shall summon Browder or any other person," Landis commented.

With machine-gun rapidity, Shoemaker and Saprio, Howard and Joseph William Marcus, a San Francisco catering manager, took lusty wallops at Bridges.

NAMES BRIDGES AS RED

As the climax of his day-and-a-half stay on the stand, Saprio disclosed the contents of a letter he wrote to John H. Lewis, head of the CIO, in September, 1937, in which he warned that Bridges and other alleged Communists should be ousted from the West Coast branch of the CIO or Lewis must consider himself as "betrayer of labor."

Dr. Smith Faces New Indictment

NEW ORLEANS, July 21 (INS).—Identity of the person who "advised" the flight of Dr. James Monroe Smith, resigned president of Louisiana State University, remained cloaked in mystery today as rumor had it the federal grand jury was contemplating additional indictments.

The question of who advised Dr. Smith came to the forefront when the educator, through his attorneys, filed a petition in federal court seeking his release from federal custody on the ground that he had been subjected to "cruel and unusual" treatment.

In his petition, Dr. Smith, who now faces 24 indictments in Baton Rouge parish, 11 charges in New Orleans and one federal mail fraud charge, declared he was "advised" to leave the state of Louisiana and was given to understand that and was of the honest belief that there was no foundation for the institution of any criminal proceedings against him.

On the contrary, was informed that the only action which might be taken against him was a civil action."

Dr. Smith resigned from L. S. U. on June 25, and then followed a series of charges that he had used forged and unauthorized university bonds in an attempt to make himself master of the world's wheat markets.

GOVERNOR PRESSES TAX VOTE

Pressure from two sources forced state legislators today to shift added strength in support of Governor Saltonstall's emergency tax program—special levies on cigarettes, gasoline, racing and incomes to raise $50,000,000 by 1941.

State House observers noted a growing demand that debate be started, probably early next week, on the governor's tax proposals as a result of the Chief Executive's threat to keep the legislature in session until an adequate revenue plan is adopted.

Legislators who hoped for a few weeks' vacation before the end of August were warned by Governor Saltonstall:

"There will be no prorogation of the session until a satisfactory finance program has been completed. This is definite."

Since the governor's permission is necessary for prorogation, leaders of both parties tried to speed up committee debates in order for early consideration of the revenue measure.

Another "lever" forcing members to turn toward the Saltonstall tax program is a sales tax plan, now resting on the Senate table and available for reconsideration at any time.

Strong opposition developed when a flat 2 per cent sales tax was previously suggested and it was then rejected by the House, but a modified sales tax plan will again come up for discussion, probably on Monday.

President Joseph Cotton of the Senate said the Republican members will hold a caucus Monday noon on the modified sales tax, which it is estimated will raise $20,000,000 a year.

Daniel Bloomfield, manager of the retail board of trade of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, immediately started to organize state-wide opposition to the sales tax idea.

Japs Mass Fleet In Soviet Threat

TOKYO, July 21 (AP)—A naval ministry source disclosed today that a section of the Japanese fleet was assembling in northern waters as a result of a Soviet Russian threat to confiscate Japanese oil and coal properties.

The size of the naval force, its base and destination were not stated. The naval source declared, however, that "our ships and men are ready."

Asked if Japan were likely to take armed action to prevent confiscation, he replied:

"In my opinion that is possible. The situation is extremely grave."

On Monday Soviet Russia announced rejection of a Japanese demand in "ultimatum form" regarding the rights of Japanese oil and coal concessions in Sakhalin Island, which is half Russian and half Japanese. It is off the Siberian coast.

Hitler '100 P. C. Against War' the Reich to deal moderately with the situation.

Germany's conviction that Britain eventually will turn the scale in favor of the Reich is based upon the following alternatives:

1—Should Britain succeed in concluding a pact with Soviet Russia, it would be at the expense of Britain's almost automatic entanglement in any European conflict, leaving England with little or no freedom of action. In these circumstances, Germany feels that Britain will be bound to press Poland not to precipitate hostilities.

2—Should Britain fail to conclude the pact, Poland will be even more inclined to back down, since she will be confronted with a strong Germany and a lukewarm, if not hostile, Soviet Russia at her rear.

WHY NAZIS PREPARE

The spokesmen described Germany's widespread military preparations as a "natural precaution."

"Germany must be ready for all emergencies," he said, "since it is clear that war is possible. At the same time, the Reich does not regard this as a right or desirable solution."

"The next few months will show whether a situation now resembling a gordian knot can be unraveled or must be cut with the sword. Germany's hope today is that Poland will decide upon a peaceful solution upon a solid pragmatic basis that will damage Poland's prestige as little as possible."

Hatch, father of five children, had been employed only a week ago as watchman at the Mystic avenue, Medford, dump, where he was found slain. His home is in Shawmut place, Chelsea.

Lieutenant Inspector William J. McLaughlin of Medford conferred with officials in the district attorney's office and at the same time county officers and police continued to search the area for the bullet which killed Hatch.

Two youths who had been firing at rats shortly before they discovered Hatch's body were released after questioning. Dr. Andrew J. Guthrie of Medford, assistant medical examiner, described the watchman's death as accidental.

KEEP U.S. OUT OF WAR

THE FIGHT to keep America out of foreign wars has not yet been won. It is true that the House of Representatives amended the Bloom Anti-Neutrality Resolution before passing it, and that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee refused even to consider the measure at this session.

It is true that the joint statement to Congress by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull pleading for the original Bloom Bill merely repeated refuted arguments, and evoked no apparent change in either congressional or public opinion.

But it is also true that the interventionists are now endeavoring to implicate this country in foreign conflicts by meddling in the Pacific instead of in the Atlantic area.

And, in view of the facts that Japan is the third partner in the Berlin-Rome axis, and that Great Britain, France and Russia all have vast imperial stakes in the trade and territories of Asia, there is not a whit of difference between involving America in the Far East or attempting to establish our frontiers in Europe.

IT HAPPENED THERE

It Could Happen Here

Either course means WAR for this country. Here is the new situation in Congress.

For two years Japan has been waging an undeclared war of imperialism against Communism in China.

This by extension has become virtually an undeclared war between Soviet Russia and Japan on the Mongolian boundaries.

Pending now in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is a resolution, sponsored by the Administration Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, which would embargo all shipments of war materials to Japan—but not to China or to Russia.

In the first place, no such bill is needed.

Under the existing Neutrality Law, the President already has authority to declare that a state of war exists in the Far East and thereby to invoke automatically the embargo provisions.

The embargo, of course, would then apply impartially to ALL belligerents. In other words, it would be an act of neutrality.

And the interventionists do not want that.

They want America to participate in the war.

As they seek, by special enactment, to impose an embargo against Japan alone.

That would be entering directly into a matter that not only does not concern us but that would probably stir the Japanese people to make reprisals against us.

In the second place, the alleged reason given by Senator Pittman for such an embargo is that Japan violated the Nine-Power Treaty by attacking China, and hence we should make a reprisal against Japan.

But under the Nine Power Treaty itself, in case of violations our sole action—if any—would be to "CONSULT" the other signatory powers.

And the interventionists plainly do not want that either—it might compel Great Britain and Russia to look to their own interests in the Orient, instead of INDUCING US TO GUARD THEIR INTERESTS.

At the same time, our intervention in China could easily—and probably would quickly—plunge us into war in Asia and Europe.

IT IS SIGNIFICANT

That a committee headed by Former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson—"The American Committee for Non-Participation in Japanese Aggression" it is decently named—(borrowing that method from the Communists)—is aggressively propagandizing for the pending Pittman Resolution and for an Anti-Japanese embargo.

Mr. Stimson, in testimony before a congressional committee a little while ago, asserted in effect that it was our "duty" to ally ourselves with the so-called "democracies" in Europe against the totalitarian powers.

Obviously, therefore, warlike intervention in the Pacific is but the back door to war in Europe for this country.

The United States must be KEPT OUT of this reckless adventure. It is not our business how to penalize Japan for her invasion of China after two years of inaction and acquiescence.

Senator Reed of Kansas, put the issue squarely when he said: "Great Britain and Russia have large and vital interests in China."

"The United States has very small and indirect interests there."

Why should WE take an action calculated to invite a war with Japan?

Mother's Hands

NO sculptor's craft could ever undertake . . . of Mother's hands a work of art to make . . . and yet their beauty shines forth like the sun . . . if only for the lovely things they've done . . . For the Thanksgiving dinners they've prepared . . . (No work for others' pleasure ever spared) . . . And for the gingerbread and pies and cake . . . golden cookies they so loved to make . . . For pigtailed they have braided—tied with bows . . . for mending and for darning little clothes . . . Pillows for restless little heads they smoothed . . . and feverish little brows they often soothed.

As faded roses treasure Summer's gold . . . so Mother's hands a wealth of memories hold.

MY DAY

HYDE PARK, July 21—We had a most interesting day. We arrived at Mrs. Charles Hayerweather's at New Lebanon, N. Y., soon after 11 a. m., and enjoyed sitting on her porch and having lunch with her, after which she took us to the old Shaker village. I have seen these buildings in various stages of decay and to find them being rehabilitated in a most competent and loving fashion, was really joy.

The two old Shaker sisters, Emma and Sadie Neale, still live in one of the old buildings. One of them is 90 and the other is 92, and they take a keen interest in the fact that their community is becoming an educational institution. These buildings have been taken over by Mr. Charles Lambert Heyniger and will be called the Darrow School, after the first settler in this valley.

BOTH Mr. and Mrs. Heyniger seem very well suited to the work which they have undertaken and are most delightful people. They have three children of their own, two of whom went about with us and seemed to take as much interest in the old furniture and old tools which had been found, as did their elders.

Then we paid a visit to the old Shaker sisters whom I had last seen in Sharon Springs, N. Y., where one of them presented me with a bottle of water.

They had forgotten me, of course, but were as keenly interested in the fact that I was

SHAKER VILLAGE VISIT DELIGHTS FIRST LADY
"What Extraordinary Workers These People Were!"

President Roosevelt's wife as a young girl would be.

In answer to my question, the older one told me that she had not always lived in the house she was now in, but had once lived further up the hill. When, at the age of 12, they wanted her to go down and live in the valley, she had been very indignant and felt quite sure that her family could not get on without her.

But she went to live in the valley, a distance certainly not more than a half mile away.

She has great respect for hand work and told me she remembered seeing one of her Shaker aunts to my mother-in-law. I told her I had once given me by my mother-in-law some 30 odd years ago.

What extraordinary workers these people were! They felt they must show in their workmanship the kind of character and spirit which was theirs.

So it is marvellous to see today the stone which they moved, the beams which they set, and the foundations and the framework of the buildings which stand as a monument not only to good workmanship, but to the character which made it possible.

WE DROVE HOME through beautiful country, but I think the warmth and the sun made us both sleepy. I don't think I was a very talkative companion, but it was all I could do to stay awake and keep my car on the road.

I arrived safely, however, by 5:30 and found a message to come to New York City to meet some of my children.

Human Side of News

by EDWIN C. HILL

IN THE NEWS on a single day are two stories about Indians which, considered together, might reveal the red man as standing at the crossroads.

One, from Browning, Mont., tells of a jitterbug contest as a feature of the annual ceremonial dance of the Blackfeet tribe. The other reports the newly published biography of Chief Standing Bear as a bitter repudiation of the white man's civilization.

The late Mary Austin, no doubt, would be shocked with the news of the Indians becoming jitterbugs, were she alive today. This brilliant writer fervently believed that there was profound wisdom and healing in their ancient ceremonies.

SHE and John Collier, both sensitive mystics, contended mightily for the soul of the Indian. Congress finally awarded it to Mr. Collier, making him head of the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Mabel Dodge Luhan, the one time grande dame of Greenwich Village, writer and patron of left wing belles lettres, also had intervened in the struggle for the Indian, incidentally marrying one. That their age-old "crazy dog and "pigeon" dances should be perverted into jitterbug antics surely would have been a horror to all of them—as on that day in Taos when Mary Austin vehemently exclaimed, "These are MY Indians," and told the others to keep off.

"Foghorn" Murphy and Alexander Hymister Proctor once engaged in a religious struggle for the soul of an Indian named Sam-dow and both lost. It was in San Francisco, 20 years ago.

Foghorn Murphy's life work was to ride the length of Market street every day in the baseball season, on a prancing white horse, and sing out "Play Ball!" with a voice like a liner's foghorn.

Mr. Proctor is a distinguished sculptor who has done much of the imposing monumental sculpture of the country, including the McKinley monument in Buffalo. He had brought Sundown from the wilds of eastern Oregon to pose for him in his studio in the Santa Clara Valley.

Sundown, tall and stately, endowed with great dignity, seemed but slightly stirred by his first view of a great city until he saw the barrel-chested Foghorn on his handsome horse and heard his mighty voice. He knew no English but rushed into the street to hail the great white chief with appropriate sign talk and tokens of esteem. Foghorn was delighted.

RIGHT THERE, Mr. Proctor's "Sundown" began. When Sundown would have been posing, he was "Foghorn" again, having a routine of a long time all over town. A friend of this writer tried to get Sundown back to the studio, but Mr. Proctor, but with his customary success.

For the first time on the screen, that excellent actor, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, best remembered here for his canon in Paul Vincent Carrson's play "The Dark and the Light," comes out from behind the facial foliage of "King Solomon's Mines" and "Stanley and Livingstone" to reveal a Hebe and a Mr. Paul Astor. The calm and mysterious gentleness was time for Grampa, as he has played in some of the best of the Fox's parents. Sir Cedric is impressively casual.

BRADSHAW
Co-op Banks Have Good Six Months
Financial Editor

Massachusetts cooperative banks rounded out an excellent six months period with a big jump in business. . . . And breakdown studies of the figures reported substantiate expectations of continued real estate gains. . . . While supporting optimistic views on general trade. . . .

APPLICATIONS. Received in June alone by all Massachusetts cooperative banks were considerably in excess of $7,000,000. . . . A remarkable showing, when it is realized these institutions are confined to the residential property field. . . . Henry H. Pierce, chairman of the public committee of the Massachusetts Cooperative Bank League, supplied us with the figures. . . . Pointing out that in June the total of mortgages written exceeded May by 20 per cent. . . . With applications for new loans in excess of half a million dollars larger than in June, 1938. . . . The League's group arrangements for mutual cooperation of members banks shows more than one-half of those reporting average increases of 32 per cent. . . . Sound improvement in the home buying and building field is clearly indicated. . . . One that brooks no argument from the foreboding pessimists. . . .

REPORTS. On trade conditions in the New England area for this week stress agriculture. . . . Industrial lines generally have somewhat of a holiday bungalow and need a bit more time to recover. . . . Drought and the hurtle can have seriously impaired in many prospects in important country zones. . . . While rains may yet save many of the crops now deep depleted of hurricane damage reports are an irreparable loss. . . . Principal losses are apple raisins. . . . Only a moderate yield is anticipated because of lack of rain. And that presumes good growing conditions during the balance of the season. . . . The "apple of the earth" outlook is satisfactory. . . . An above average potato crop is predicted. . . . As a larger acreage was planted during the sowing period this year. . . .

NEW YORK. Has contributed to a brightening of the New England industrial horizon this week. . . . In a big way. . . . By virtue of buying furlies in cotton cloth lines. . . . Print supplies are said to be low and price advances in the making. . . . As a result the whole Worth St. mart has a firm of tone and volume is expanding. . . . At the present rate of buying observers believe volume for the current week will be well above production. . . . In woolen goods a better demand is noted for fall lines of suitings. . . . so all told the prospects of accelerated mill activity later in the year are being quietly, but greatly, enhanced.

TRUSTS. Of the Massachusetts Investors Trust are taking a confident view of the domestic business outlook. . . . Which extends to common stock prices. . . . With equities boasting comparative stable earnings and dividends. . . . quite appealing in a more favorable light. . . . Due to the plethora of easy money. . . . And the wide yield disparity in their favor when compared with high grade bonds. . . . The trustees put forth the possibility of such equities approaching a point when they may well involve less risk of depreciation than best type bonds. . . .

Broken Faith Spreads Poison Through World

Immorality on the part of politicians in welching on covenants, such is the war debts, has cast a shadow over the current generation. This letting down on ethical standards spreads to devaluation, ignoring of gold clauses and general confiscation of savings.

It looks for example to me like a real face on matters pertaining to a rapidly expanding nation debt. Politicians of their mind the thought that if the debt becomes too burdensome, it can be handled through further monetary manipulation. As a result, men hesitate to accumulate savings and to invest them in long term bonds for making money in the long run. This is the way becomes the difficult and the costly way.

William Bennett Munro of the California Institute of Technology suggested by increasing the larger can attitudes good faith, and that is international morality is an absolute shibboleth.

"To the extent that this philosophy spreads, and achieves even a temporary hold on the minds of people, it will corrupt one of the sustaining pillars of civilized life."

Thus a spiritual framework is lost to a generation of material prospect.

There was a time when men were ready to take risks and run the chance of failure; now it is becoming their habit to expect that government will provide the capital run the risks, and saddle the load of failure upon that part of the citizenship which has made a success of its own activities.

New graduates from the schools and colleges, seeking to make their way in the world, are being told that the government will provide the capital run the risks, and saddle the load of failure upon that part of the citizenship which has made a success of its own activities.

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—Led by steel, motors and rails, the stock market swung into a fast recovery today that lifted leaders 1 to more than 3 points.

The list tilted forward at the start, but at slow speed. After an hour, or so bidding picked up and momentum around noon to put the ticker tape behind for a brief interval. The pace slackened later but prices were around the top.

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN
Special to Boston Evening American
WASHINGTON, July 21 — Our celebrated grab-and-gauge "slacker Congress" plans to adjourn without raising the well-known little finger in effort to lift this nation out of the 10-year depression.

It has voted itself its $10,000 annual salaries, and prepares to collect the grand total for some seven months work. It has voted to every senator and every representative an additional clerk or so, at an additional charge on the public treasury of well over a million dollars a year.

It is said on the taxpayers of this and future generations will exceed perhaps $13,000,000,000. One fact this reckless Congress refuses to look squarely in the face: America must have an immediate return of economic progress, based on jobs for the army of the unemployed in private industry, and employment for idle billions now long out of work. The answer is written in an obscure line in the daily treasury statement: That interest charge comes out of the pockets of the taxpayers, and all the people, high and low, rich and poor, are taxpayers, although some may like themselves, and thinking they aren't.

When Mr. Roosevelt became President he found by the treasury statement, that the interest on the public debt, for the year 1932 was $599,000,000. In '37 the public debt was existing the treasury $668,000,000. In '38 it rose to $928,000,000, and in '39 to $940,000,000. It was almost at the billion mark. In 1940 it will go over, $1,000,000,000.

Some day the government will have to pay more for its borrowed money. When it does the taxpayers will have to pay a heavier burden of interest.

New Building Loan

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—Hartford Rayon Corp., Rocky Hill, Ct., today got the "go ahead" signal on a construction program calling for expenditure of upwards of $175,000 for additional plant facilities. It was announced in financial quarters a loan of $400,000 had been arranged with the Reconstruction Finance Corp., the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and Phoenix State Bank & Trust Co. of Hartford, Ct. The company plans building a $125,000 power plant and a recovery plant at a cost of $50,000 to produce "clay" salt from waste products. The balance of the loan is to be added to working capital.

London Mart Rallies

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—The stock market closed with a brighter undertone today following rumors that obstacles to European peace might yet be ironed out. International shares were strong. British funds opened easier, but later failed to finish near the previous close. Japanese loans also improved on unconfirmed reports British-Japanese talks might bear fruit.

Bar Gold Steady

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—Bar gold 144 5/8d, unchanged. (Equivalent $31.71.)

KUHLE, DESAUTELS, ROSENTHAL. In the 1939 season, in game with Red Sox, Kuhl scored from first on Mike Kreevich's triple.

KUHLE AGAIN!—White Sox first sacker safe at second as Joe Cronin drops Dickman's throw. Chisox took four of five games from P. I. Sox. It was a tragic series for Boston clan, for they had seemed to have Yankees on the run.

MIKE TRESH of White Sox out at third base trying to stretch double. White Sox won anyway, 4 to 0.

Chisox Easy for Yanks But Not for Our Sox

By JOE CASHMAN

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 21—Try this on your piano. The Red Sox have won eight out of 12 from the Yanks and the White Sox have won but one out of 10 from the Yanks but the White Sox have captured eight out of 12 from the Red Sox, including four straight on the past three afternoons.

That's the silly symphony being played by the two teams right in the Yankee Stadium and as far as our Sox are concerned, the series is mighty quiet at the moment. The Sox have won four of the last five games from the Yanks and were even games ago, but the Sox have won eight out of 12 from the Yanks and the White Sox have won but one out of 10 from the Yanks but the White Sox have captured eight out of 12 from the Red Sox, including four straight on the past three afternoons.

Sisti at Far Turn As B's Seek Sweep Against Hartnetts

By BILL CRIMES

Just as soon as he was advised by Dr. Edward J. O'Brien, the club's physician, that Eddie Miller would be out for the remainder of the season, President Bob Quinn began to burn the wires with SOS messengers for news, needed right away.

After the Sox had been informed of the doctor's verdict, Bob Quinn, who had been in the hospital since Monday, was able to get out of bed and walk to the clubhouse. He was in good luck, for he had just received word that Sisti had been released from the hospital and was back in the clubhouse. Quinn was very much relieved, for he had been very much worried about Sisti's condition. Sisti had been in the hospital since Monday, and Quinn had been very much worried about Sisti's condition. Sisti had been in the hospital since Monday, and Quinn had been very much worried about Sisti's condition.

BETTER WITH AGE. Rabbit

Warbler, whose squeeze play beat Cubs Wednesday, came up with three for three and scored both Bees' runs in Thursday's 2-1 victory.

he'll receive daily instructions from Tony Cucinello in the art of second base play. And, if he shows that he's ready for a shot at the Keystone wreck, Green Sox will give him a chance to prove it. He'll receive daily instructions from Tony Cucinello in the art of second base play. And, if he shows that he's ready for a shot at the Keystone wreck, Green Sox will give him a chance to prove it.

He was part of the deal with the Sox, who were paying for him a year ago when playing for Montreal and Toronto in the International League. Schuster hit for .315. For some reason Schuster was out of the Toronto lineup a week ago, but returned to action just as soon as Miller was hurt. Bob Quinn was unable to get Howley back in part with Bill Dan pleaded with the boss of the Sox to allow Schuster to remain in Toronto, for the club was just starting to roll and the loss of the Sox's star pitcher would be a disaster. Tony Lazzari had of course, been in the Sox's lineup since the Sox moved to Boston.

QUINN TAKES RAP

Not wishing to work too much of a hardship on Toronto, Bob Quinn decided to take the rap himself, as he revealed today, who is a tremendous favorite with the Hartford fans. Sissy Sisti has been playing second base and short stop at Hartford this season. He was at the hot corner for the Hartford Bees last year, and despite the fact that he stepped from Canis, his high school in Buffalo, N. Y. to class A baseball, Sisti filled the hot in great style.

Two years ago Sissy Sisti was given a tryout by the Red Sox in Cleveland, but before Joe Cronin was very much impressed by the boy, had a chance to offer him a contract. Sissy Sisti was released to Buffalo. A year ago last fall, while he was a senior in high school and only 17 years old, Sisti's father, who played tackle for Cornell in the fall of 1917, came here and signed a Hartford contract.

SISTI TO PLAY THIRD

Although he still has plenty to learn, Sissy Sisti is rated as one of the best prospects in the country. In the first place he is exceptionally fast, has a great arm, a fine pair of hands and he's hitting for .301 this season.

In all probability, Sissy Sisti will be assigned to third base. But

CLUB IN HITTING SLUMP

And they're looking for a way to get worse off by the time the Sox home next Tuesday. The Sox have won eight out of 12 from the Yanks and the White Sox have won but one out of 10 from the Yanks but the White Sox have captured eight out of 12 from the Red Sox, including four straight on the past three afternoons.

Of course, the Fenwayites take just the opposite view of the situation. They're counting on cleaning up against the Browns to either reduce the Yankee lead or pull further away from the Pale Hose.

But as weak as the native argument entry is, our heroes will have to flash marked improvement over their Chicago form to get away from here with an even break.

It's a pity that the Sox are in a hitting slump. The Sox have won eight out of 12 from the Yanks and the White Sox have won but one out of 10 from the Yanks but the White Sox have captured eight out of 12 from the Red Sox, including four straight on the past three afternoons.

But both those disasters hit them the first two minutes. Johnny Alguire, young right-hander, blanked them with four singles in the mid-week nightcap. Dark came Thony "Lefty" Lee to keep them away from the plate, despite allowing nine safeties, as he beat them, 4 to 0, in the fifth and final fray of the engagement.

The Pale Hose did all their scoring against Denny Galehouse in the first inning. Emerson Dickman and Jack Wilson combined to furnish 113 innings of scoreless pitching for a last time.

The teaming was much harder to take than that administered by Rigney the day before. The latter did allow a hit until the eighth inning. Lee on the other hand was repeatedly putting Red Sox on only to have other Red Sox pull him out of the game, as happened four times, at top up batting.

Yesterday's Stars

CHARLIE HOFFING, Yankees—Four-hit batting gave him 15th out of season as Yanks won 8 to 2 in a late evening game. Sissy Sisti, Yankees—His home run in eighth was blown that broke three hits. THOMAS LEE, White Sox—Wildly whiffed head, grabbed Red Sox, whiffing them 4 to 0 with a nine hit job. EARL HARRIS, Indians—Shaded Pitcher Bill Beckwith at Abilene to score 2-2, and ate into the series. STEVE FLETCHER, Pirates—His home run in seventh broke up come game and home run in eighth won it for Pirates. Sissy Sisti, Yankees—His home run in eighth was blown that broke three hits. THOMAS LEE, White Sox—Wildly whiffed head, grabbed Red Sox, whiffing them 4 to 0 with a nine hit job. EARL HARRIS, Indians—Shaded Pitcher Bill Beckwith at Abilene to score 2-2, and ate into the series. STEVE FLETCHER, Pirates—His home run in seventh broke up come game and home run in eighth won it for Pirates.

Where Did He Get Those Deuces?

EDMONTON, Alta., July 21 (AP)—For three years, then Zegachuk, a middle-aged, unimpaired painter and decorator from Winnipeg, has been playing daily doubles at the race track. Always he has picked the same horse, the first horse in the first race, and the eighth horse in the third race.

Today Zegachuk was a confirmed believer in his system. He bought two daily double tickets at the Edmonton fair grounds track yesterday. They were winning ones, and they brought him $1250 in each, or $2500 for a $4 investment.

Lan's Alice, on the pole in the first race, won and paid $14.50 for $2. Bill's, eighth from the pole in the third event, returned $101.50 for a $2 straight ticket.

THE TEN-ROUND bout between pudgy Tony Galento and Lou Nova in the Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia on September 7 will furnish an opponent for Joe Louis for next June provided the "Brown Bomber" isn't sunk by Bob Pastor in Detroit on September 20.

Nova had hoped to get a Louis match this year, but Jimmy Johnston beat him to the punch with Pastor. It has been a habit of Johnston's to beat rival managers to the punch down through the years, and so Ray Carlin, pilot of Nova, should not take his ill fortune too much to heart.

The amazing Galento may upset the Nova title dreams in which case "Two Ton" will spend the coming Winter telling all persons who will listen to him how he is going to become a champion. This writer was one of the few persons who stated Galento's punch would enable him to weather three or four rounds of Louis' power, and that it would also cause the champion considerable annoyance. I have always liked these old heavyweights who can toss dynamite.

The signing of Galento-Nova for Philadelphia also verifies our story that the Quaker City was going to get the match. Many of the young men who write sports for the newspapers were convinced the contest was going to New York.

Why New York? Hadn't it seen Galento knocked out by Louis. It could not be expected to become enthusiastic over Galento before he had scored a victory.

Galento has always been popular in Philadelphia. It is also a pleasant ride from most places in New Jersey to Philadelphia. The distance from Atlantic City with its swank and surf bathing to Philadelphia is only 60 miles over a four-lane highway.

Called Philadelphia 50-Cent Fight Town

THEY CALLED Philadelphia a 50-cent fight town before Tex Rickard staged the first Dempsey-Tunney bout there. The old Manassas Mauler and Gene drew $1,800,000.

More recently there was an advance sale of $75,000 for the John Henry Lewis-Tony Galento bout last summer when the latter was kayoed by an attack of pneumonia. Muggsy Taylor shed large tears as he returned this fortune to the cash customers.

I look for Galento and Nova to draw between $150,000 and $175,000.

Interest in the bout will run high, and the battle is sure to be exciting. Nova is young, aggressive and a fair puncher. Despite his age, Galento still can punch as Louis will admit, while nobody has yet questioned Tony's courage.

It looks as if the heavyweights with the assistance of Billy Conn, light heavyweight champion, are staging a boxing revival.

Horseshoe Contest

Why not play a little horseshoe? The Boys' Club of Boston will stage its first annual South Boston district doubles horseshoe championship August 1 and 2. The tourney will be held at the new Charles Hayden Playgrounds at West 8th and F streets, South Boston. Entry blanks may be obtained at the Charles Hayden playgrounds or at the Hayden clubhouse.

The tourney will be divided into two classes, ranging from 10 to 18 years of age, juniors 10 to 13, and seniors 14 to 18.

Worcester Woman Lands First Tuna Fish Off Ipswich

By DARK MONTREA'

Tuna continue to provide the big fish-ing news, and I wish some of you fellows who figure tuna fishing is just a rich man's sport would inquire into the reasonable prices being asked for boat and tackle hire on the tuna grounds.

The week so far provides four good tuna stories, two from Massachusetts, one from Maine and one from Nova Scotia. I think the best is contained in the feat of Mrs. James Whitall of Worcester, who, on Wednesday, fought a 422-pound bluefin to a standstill in Ipswich Bay, using 24 thread line, and killing her fish in two hours and 35 minutes.

You've got to be mighty audacious or mighty skillful when you fish for bluefin with line that tests only 72 pounds and in the case of Mrs. Whitall, the latter holds. Her fish established a record for women in Massachusetts waters, and was also the first landed by a woman this year.

Tuna story No. 2 comes from Paul Bauer, who killed his first fish of the season, a 425-pounder, on the same day. The bluefin took a big whiting bait still fished (I told you so, Paul) on the dragger grounds and came over the side after four hours and 22 minutes.

In contrast with the record fish that broke three gaffs on Betty 74 two weeks ago, this tuna was landed without use of a gaff and came over the side a dead fish. The story is that the bluefin was played out to a fare-thee-well and on his last dive the leader became tangled around his tail.

He drowned, and Bauer had to pump his dead weight from the bottom, a back-breaking job, and one that strained tackle.

Captain Lloyd McNeil, the Rimini expert, handled the Bauer boat during the battle. Gordon Brown and Vernon Childs were in the party.

Maine's story tells about Henry Struter, of Ogunquit, diving overboard from his cruiser Bluefin to clear the line of Richmond Yarker, also of Ogunquit, which had been fouled around the propeller with a 580-pound fish on the free end. He cleared the line and the fish was landed. And that Ogunquit water is like ice!

Now—stop me if you've heard it. You can't stand another—comes Waugheg, N. S., where, on Tuesday evening, in quaint Wedgeport Inn, a dinner was in progress over gossip of the coming international tuna tournament. Somebody said: "Where's Joe Manning? He was going to be here and it's getting late."

"He was fishing this afternoon, but should be along soon," somebody answered.

But the dinner finished without Manning, who arrived recently from Boston, putting in an appearance. At 11:30, some fears being entertained for his safety, the guides organized a searching party. The search ended a short distance from the pier when Manning's boat came out of the night with a 750-pounder he had been fighting for eight hours and 12 minutes.

The New Haven will run another hobby train—including arrangements for fishermen—to Marthas Vineyard and Nantucket on Sunday.

The new duck stamp, showing green wing teal by Lynn Bogue Hunt, is printed and ready for sale. . . More eagerly awaited than the stamp are the duck hunting regulations for this fall, yet to be released. . .

The following letter, from an experienced woodsman, is so timely in view of what has happened in Maine that I'm passing it along in full. It's good advice:

Dear Dark Montreal:
How about devoting a small corner of your always-interesting fishing column to one more seasonal repetition of the "first commandment" for persons lost in woods or on mountains, here in New England.

Tell 'em again, please tell 'em again, Dark Montreal, all they have to do, once they've lost their bearings, is SIT TIGHT and keep their shirt on.

They may be uncomfortable for an hour or two—or a day or two!

They may be hungry and they may be cold.

But they won't starve, they won't freeze and they won't break their necks or drown in a swamp or collapse from exhaustion.

Not if they sit tight, they won't. They can be perfectly sure rescuers will soon be looking for them. If the lost boy or man has matches, as he should have, let him kindle a fire. It will keep him warm and guide the searching parties.

But, fire or no fire, if he'll sit tight and STAY PUT, as harm will come to him, it might not be true in some parts of the world. But it IS TRUE and it has been PROVED TRUE, time after time, here in New England, where we have an even climate, no dangerous animals or snakes and no wilderness so deep rescue parties can't penetrate it in a matter of hours.

Yours As Always,

JOE ENGLISH,
New Boston, N. H.

Bobby Sisti

Buffalo boy that the Bees have brought up from Hartford . . . Sisti is still green but he has great possibilities . . . He can carry the game . . . Gaby Hartnett caught his 100th home run yesterday . . . Dick Bartel and Billy Herman have slowed up so much that the Cubs no longer come up with many double plays.

From a very authentic source, I was informed recently that "certain parties" would see to it that umpire George Magerkurth would be reimbursed the $100 that he was fined by President Ford Erick, and also that his 10-day suspension would not cost him a penny.

Yesterday, President Erick sent long telegrams to the presidents of all National League clubs, stating that because of the tendency on the part of the clubs to remit fines to players so accused that in the future players guilty of pushing, shoving or laying hands on umpires will be automatically suspended for five days, without appeal, strike or excuse.

There isn't a C. P. A. in the country that can add that up and get the correct answer . . . Erick is under the impression that National League baseball is getting out of control . . . If it is, it's going back to the fans, where it belongs . . . "Mike" Mitchell, the old-time Cincinnati outfielder, is ready to lay it on the line that the Reds can, and will, if they meet them in the World Series, take the Yankees . . . During the early innings of yesterday's game, the Bees had their guns trained on Vance Page, the Cubs' hurler . . . Vance was lucky that he wasn't seriously injured . . . In fact, he came as close to having his hair parted as he ever will when Al Lopez, long-bridged him in the second inning . . . Buddy Hassett came up with a Hal Chase play in the 7th, when he gathered in Carl Reynolds' sacrifice bunt on the third base line and got the ball to Tony Cuccinello ahead of the ballot . . . "Rock" has suspended its pass list, don't attempt to slip any phoney "four hitters" into the boxes for grandstand seats . . . The boxes are so equipped that when any coin other than the real McCoy is submitted they sound off making as much noise as a general alarm . . . More and more the baseball experts are realizing that Casey Stengel has more on the ball than any manager in either league . . . There'll be about 100 four ball teams playing in the 14 hole qualifying round of the 16th annual Winchester Invitation today . . . Harry McGrath, chairman of the tournament committee, did a masterly feat putting across the Winchester Invitation, for he not only has the largest but also the fastest field in many years . . . More of the members of the New England Professional Golfers' Association, along with many independent pros, will be at Poland Spring, Me., over the week end, for the third annual Northeastern Metropolitan Style four-ball tournament.

Tommy White, who is the pro at Poland Spring has received more than 60 requests for starting money . . . It's safe to say that close to 300 will play at Poland Spring on Sunday and Monday.

The George Wright Golf Club members and his friends will tender Ray Maraz a testimonial banquet on July 30 . . . Maraz, who was the runner up to Teddy Adams in the state amateur championship last year, is one of the most popular members of the George Wright Golf Club and a capacity gathering will be on hand to pay him homage.

The dinner will be at 7 o'clock in the clubhouse, and in the afternoon Ray Maraz and Teddy Adams will play Freddie Wright, seven-time winner of the state amateur title, and Bill Taylor, the home pro, in an exhibition match.

"We beat Brooklyn the other night with three regulars on the bench—Goodman, Lombardi and Craft."

"Our reserves are coming through fine, especially Borgey. We've got a whole substitute outfield, but we're not hollering."

REDS WIN DESPITE INJURIES

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—Bill McKeechne and his Cincinnati Reds are going to play better ball from here on, which is bad news for seven other National League clubs.

It might be taken, in fact, as a prediction that the Reds will meet the Yankees in the next World Series, except that McKeechne would scold anyone who quoted him as making such a prophecy.

"We're going along very nicely, very nicely," was what the Reds' pilot actually said. "I think we're going to be better, too. Our pitching is improving steadily. The rest of the club has been better than the pitching, but now we're getting the right balance."

"Derringer and Walters have pitched great ball right along, but you can't win a pennant with two pitchers."

John Vander Meer is getting his control back, and Lee Grubbs is gaining confidence that his arm is well again.

"Junior Thompson is pitching such great relief ball that I'm going to have to make him a regular starter."

So there you are, if the Reds have been able to gain eight longthas over their rather drab rivals with only a two-man mound staff, it stands to reason they are going to be wolves the rest of the way.

"And by the way," said McKeechne, "what's all this yelling about the Giants' injuries? We've got a few ourselves."

"We beat Brooklyn the other night with three regulars on the bench—Goodman, Lombardi and Craft."

"Our reserves are coming through fine, especially Borgey. We've got a whole substitute outfield, but we're not hollering."

Bulla Has 33 For First Nine

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—Johnny Bulla, long-limbed young Chicago star, shot a one under par 33 on the first nine of the Medinah Country Club's No. 1 course today as he opened round play early in the Western open golf championship.

Bulla was runner-up in the recent British open championship.

Also among the early leaders was Byron Nelson of Reading Penn., the national open champion. Nelson had nine straight pars for a 34.

The tournament apparently had lost two of golf's most colorful figures.

Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn., a former Western open winner, wired his definite withdrawal.

Walter Hagen, in typical "Hale" fashion, had not shown up, and officials said they did not know his whereabouts and did not think he would compete.

Soft Ball Teams Play 127 Innings

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 21 (AP)—Two Johnstown softball teams claimed today a Marathon record with 127 innings of continuous play.

The teams started at 7:29 a. m. yesterday and played until 8:31 p. m. without making a single substitution. One player, however, got hungry and went home, leaving the team with eight players.

The score: Morrellville A. C. 163, Edgewood 84.

Grimes Hurt, Indians Laid Infield Spare

CLEVELAND, July 21 (AP)—An injury to Second Baseman Oscar Grimes hurt the Cleveland Indians without a reserve infielder today.

Grimes is expected to be out two weeks as a result of tearing a finger nail from his right hand in tagging out Lamar Newsome in the fifth inning of yesterday's game with Philadelphia.

Manager Oscar Vitt said he would send Sammy Hall, who has been bothered all year with a sore arm, to second. Jimmy Webb, under doctors orders to rest, will be forced to remain at shortstop.

Ken Keltner at third and Hal Trosky at first round out the four on the roster.

Remodeled Rockingham Awaits Fans

SALEM, N. H., July 21—New, fire-proofed grandstands, with mezzanine floor attached; new low prices of admission; new, fan-bark walking rings and new steward stands are all very interesting, but horses make or break race-meetings, and when Rockingham Park opens its gates Monday for its 18-day summer meeting, the horse will be the thing.

More than 600 are already on the grounds, and every last stall will be occupied by Sunday night, with the overflow being housed at neighboring farms such as Suffolk Downs, so that Racing Secretary John P. Turner will have more than 1500 thoroughbreds at his command for what is expected to be the finest race meeting in the history of the track.

The string of thoroughbreds owned by Louis B. Mayer, movie magnate, arrived safely after a trip across the continent to introduce the blue-and-pink silks of the movie mogul to New England race-goers for the first time.

The establishment, in charge of Ed Houghton, Jr. and the veteran Jim Everman, included such well-known coast winners as Brilliant Rock, Quick Devil, Mornio Judge, Success Story, Middle Blouse, Flying Mary, Flying Bonny, Pinched, Lady Ariel, Sweet Patrice, and Campship.

Main Man, the star of the string, was unloaded at Saratoga, and will take part in a stake race there before coming to Rockingham, where he has been nominated for the Rockingham Park Handicap, feature race of the Summer season.

Flying Mary and Middle Blouse are brilliant two-year-old fillies who have won two races each and will make their first start next Wednesday in the Salem Stakes, first of the traditional stakes to be run at the meeting.

Joe Burk's Brother Seeks Joe's Crown

DETROIT, July 21 (AP)—A full schedule of singles, doubles, fours and eights events opened the 67th annual regatta of the National Association of Oarsmen today on the Detroit river.

A high point in the regatta will be the singles championship, in which Joe Burk will defend his title tomorrow. Contestants for the right to enter that event were to be determined today and include Burk's brother, Jim, of the Penn A. C., Philadelphia.
